

IMPORTANT NOTE: THIS LIST IS PRODUCED ON THE FIRST DAY OF EACH CALENDAR MONTH. PLEASE ENSURE THIS COPY IS CURRENT. PREVIOUS COPIES MAY CONTAIN PROVIDERS WHO ARE NO LONGER REGISTERED WITH OFSTED. FOR A CURRENT COPY PLEASE CONTACT THE FIS ON 020 8820 7590.

A childminder is a person who looks after your child in the childminder's own home. They provide a safe and caring home environment where children can play and develop their life skills.

Ofsted (Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills) regulates, inspects and produces reports on childcare and education providers, Please contact the provider directly or the FIS for further information.

Why should I choose an OFSTED registered childminder?

- Your child will be in a home environment.
- Your child will have a familiar carer who provides fun and learning.
- Childminders can support families for years as children grow up.
- Childminders go to local parks, toy libraries, children's centres and community events.
- Children often make friends with their childminder's other children.
- You may be able to get flexible hours.
- Many are quality assured through Hackney's childminder network scheme.
- Ofsted (the Office for Standards in Education) has inspected and register childminders recommended by the Learning Trust before they begin work with children.
- Ofsted does a Criminal Records Bureau on everyone who lives or regularly visits the home, aged over 16.
- They are trained in first aid, health and safety, basic child development, nutrition, child protection and equal opportunities

How many children will there be? There may be no more than 6 under 8 years old, of these usually no more than 3 can be under 5 years but the actual amount will be printed on the childminder's registration certificate.

How much will it cost? Fees average about £175 - £250 per week, and £4.00 to £9 per hour, depending on the type of care given. Many families on low or middle incomes may be able to claim tax credits to help with the cost.

Phone the Tax Credit helpline on 0845 300 3900 or see the website www.hmrc.gov.uk/taxcredits

When are childminders open? Most childminders work between 8am and 6pm but some work earlier or later or at weekends. They usually work all year round, and may require a period of paid leave. Discuss hours, terms and conditions with the childminder before signing a contract.

What about part time childcare? Childminders often provide part time, after school and holiday childcare. Some do school drops and collections.

Before visiting a childminder think about: a list of questions to ask; the hours you want; school holiday care; special needs; and contracts - see the note below.

Suggested questions to ask

- Can I see a copy of your registration and insurance certificates and your latest Ofsted report?
- What are your normal hours of work?
- What are your fees, do the fees include meals and what are your overtime rates?
- What are the charges for absence or sickness and holidays?
- When are you on holiday?
- May I contact parents whose children you have looked after for references?
- How many other children do you look after and what are their ages?
- What training or experience do you have?
- What activities and routines do you provide for the children?
- What do you do about sweets, snacks and drinks?
- How do you manage difficult behaviour?
- Who else will be in the house when you are minding?
- Are you a member of a childminding network?

- Do you drive? If so, does your car have the right seats and may I see your insurance certificate?
 - Do you smoke? Do you have pets?
 - What would you do in an emergency involving yourself or one of the children?
- ✓ Ask to see a copy of the contract the childminder uses.
- ✓ Spend time settling your child in.

Contracts

Childminders are self-employed. You need to agree and sign a written contract with the childminder. You should both have a copy. If you want to change it later, sign and date both copies. It should cover illness, holidays, hours, fees, notice and anything else you and the childminder want clearly worked out to prevent disputes. If you are concerned about an issue in the contract, such as fees or hours, speak to the childminder first. You can get more advice from the National Childminding Association on 0800 169 4486 or one of the Childminder Network co-ordinators listed below.

What is a childminder network?

A childminding network is a formal group of registered childminders who are recruited, assessed and monitored by a Co-ordinator to provide quality care. The Co-ordinator works with the childminders to ensure that they meet NCMA's quality standards which are higher than those required by Ofsted. They include:

- Relationship with parents
- Meeting children's needs
- How children learn
- Managing children's behaviour
- Observing and assessing children's development and behaviour
- Keeping children safe
- Protecting children from abuse
- Providing for babies and school-age children

Childminders who join the network receive regular one to one support, as well as advice, information and training, which will be assessed on individual needs. If there is a problem between parent and childminder, the Co-ordinator can help to resolve this and keep good relationship between both parties.

How can I contact my local childminder network co-ordinator?

Complaints about childminding

If you are concerned about any aspect of your childminder's work with children, speak to the childminder first. If this does not sort the problem out, then do contact the local childminder network co-ordinator, see above. If it is a complaint about a serious matter which may affect a child's welfare, ring Ofsted on 0300 123 1231.

Becoming a Childminder

If you are considering a career in childminding the Learning Trust run monthly information sessions. The session provides an opportunity to get the information you need in order to decide whether a career in childminding is for you.
